

Dear Sirs.

Please review my comments (posted only once under RM-10784 as they are rather long) on the issue of elimination of element 1 testing from the Amateur Radio licensing structure. In short, I am for the removal of the code requirement to obtain an HF Amateur Radio license with the stipulations that element 1 testing be retained for the Extra class license, and that Technicians are given the same privileges as Technician Plus (or Technician with code) licensees (as the testing would be the same if element 1 is removed).

Thank you for taking the time to review my comments.

Sincerely

Martin Campbell
